

THE BOOK OF JOB

The Epic Story of Pain and Suffering

“Tomorrow, if all literature was to be destroyed and it was left to me to retain one work only, I should save Job.”

Victor Hugo

“...the greatest poem, whether of ancient or modern literature.”

Lord Tennyson

*“The Book of Job taken as a mere work of literary genius, is one of the most wonderful productions
of any age or of any language.”*

Daniel Webster

“It is terrifying and beautiful, beautifully terrifying and terrifyingly beautiful.”

Peter Kreeft

“For whatever things were written before were written for our learning, that we through the patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.”

Romans 15:4

Job 1

“Then Satan answered the LORD and said,
‘Does Job fear God for no reason?’”

Job 1:9

Do we worship God because of what He's done (or hasn't done) in our lives, or do we worship Him simply because He is God?

And he said, “Naked I came from my mother's womb, and naked shall I return. The Lord gave, and the Lord has taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord.”

Job 1:21

Then Job answered and said: “Today also my complaint is bitter; my hand is heavy on account of my groaning. Oh, that I knew where I might find him, that I might come even close to his seat! I would lay my case before him and fill my mouth with arguments.”

Job 23:1–4

“I had heard of you by the hearing of the ear,
but now my eye sees you.”

Job 42:5

“For there is one God and one mediator between God and mankind, the man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself as a ransom for all people. This has now been witnessed to at the proper time.”

1 Timothy 2:5–6
